Studies, course be mandatory?

The question

Should an Environmental Studies Program be Mandatory?

Has the human spirit evolved or is it still stuck in its original state? Is it the education and moral shaping that we need to achieve more human potential, or does society need to work on changing the religious foundation? What is the best way to achieve the essence of the Christian religion, and how is it being represented in our society today? Does our education system reflect the true essence of the Christian religion, or is it just a facade?

The need for an environmental studies program is evident, as the world faces challenges that require a holistic approach. The program should not only focus on environmental issues but also integrate ethical and moral principles.

Environmental awareness, a religious concurrence

Read then Recycle

Counterpoint