

by Tom Sibley
(with apologies to Gertrude Stein)

The image features a large, diagonal arrangement of the words "a fractal is" repeated many times, creating a self-similar, branching pattern characteristic of a fractal. The text is black and set against a plain white background. The repetition starts from the top left and extends towards the bottom right, with each instance slightly offset to create a complex, non-linear structure.

a fractal is

Thomas Q. Sibley
Mathematics Department
St. John's University
Collegeville, MN 56321-3000

Thomas Q. Sibley
Mathematics Department
St. John's University
Collegeville, MN 56321-3000